HARDY

PERENNIALS and ROCKERY PLANTS

ARMERIA THRIFT

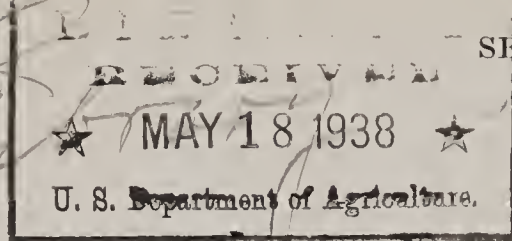

CEPHALOTES RUBRA, Bee's Ruby. Large Rosy flower heads on 8-10 inch stems—June-August. This plant beyond a doubt is one of the best rockery and low border plants, being extremely hardy. It forms a dense clump of deep green short leaves, often times carrying blooms after the first frosts have visited. our gardens.

Our Greenhouses and Packing Room.

BETTER AND CLEAN PLANTS

Two years ago we added 14 acres of new land to our nursery used for growing perennials. With more land we are enabled to plant our stock on clean new soil and to use horses to cultivate, therefore, we have clean and stronger plants for our trade at moderate prices.

Annual Bedding plants and many other novelties are grown in limited quantities, for sale at the greenhouses but not catalogued.

SELECTING HARDY PLANTS

It is possible to have some show of color in every portion of the garden at anytime, with perennials.

In planting the hardy border the taller growing sorts should be placed in the background: a few of these are Boltonias, Cassia, Hollyhocks, Golden-glow, Mallow, Sunflowers, etc. The front of the border should be laid out in the dwarf growing type, the intermediate rows will take care of the great majority of perennials; the principal requirement is their location, being so dis-

HARDY ASTER NEW DWARF

MAUVE CUSHION. Distinct species which has attracted much attention by its unique habit of growth, its floriferousness and lateness of flowering. It forms a circular cushion-like plant 2½ ft. across; the center of the plant rarely exceeding 9 inches in height, gradually tapering from 3-4 inches at the outside. The flowers, of delicate Mauve and measure over 1½ inches in diameter, completely covering the plant into late November.

20c each—3 for 50c—7 for $1.00

See Page 6—More Asters.

NEW BUDDLEIA ILE DE FRANCE

Here is an entirely different Buddleia, for brilliancy of color, grace of its flower spikes and uniform habit of growth. This new Buddleia surpassed all other varieties. The plants develop into well branched, symmetrical bushes 3-4 feet high; the individual flower spikes often measure 10 inches in length, they are brilliant rosy-purple with a violet suffusion. Their fragrance adds another feature to their beauty.

Nice strong plants 40c each.

AZALEA FLOWERED CHRYSANTHEMUM

PINK CUSHION. A descriptive name, a 30 inch rounded mound of beauty, from July until October. The earliest pink mum to bloom, with countless rosy buds and two inch open flowers. Gardens planted with this variety are bright with color in late summer when flowers are usually scarce. They may be planted in borders as well as individual specimens set separately.

POT GROWN

The chrysanthemums marked (*) as well as others may be successfully grown in 5 or 6 inch pots. In order to have them low and bushy they will need frequent pinching up until a few weeks before the buds appear. Pinch out the new growth allowing but one set of leaves above the recently formed crotch. After pinching new growth will start when again it shall be pinched in the same way, this method will keep the plants low and bushy. Pinching shall start when the plants are about 8 inches tall.

posed that colors will not clash or be unequally distributed, variation in the blooming season must also be considered in order not to have some sections of the garden without some show of color at anytime.

Planting—The roots may be planted as early in spring as the ground is pliable, soil not to be wet or soggy. Large clumps are not necessary, the smaller divisions or pot grown stock often showing more thrift and developing into shaplier plants than the old roots.

Any soil moderately enriched with rotted manure, bone meal or sheep manure, dug deep and thoroughly mixed will be satisfactory.

Spacing—In planting perennials, varieties that do not grow above 2 feet may be planted about 12 inches apart. Taller ones at an interval one half the ultimate height. Crowding or stingy planting to be avoided for perfect effect and healthy growth.

Cultivation—Keep the soil well cultivated free from weeds and litter, except during drought and mulch of grass (lawn sweepings) will help retain moisture and keep the soil from baking.

Training—Staking at an early date will adjust later defects and will overcome the tied up appearance of the plant that has been allowed to develop before given support.

Tidiness—It is a necessity to have an attractive garden, removing dead flowers, withered leaves, broken twigs, etc., will well repay the time and attention given.

Dividing—The early flowering types are generally dwarf and close rooted, these do not need to be disturbed for several years. The tall sorts of later summer and fall are fast growing, for general appearance and quality of bloom these should be taken up, divided, and a part only replanted at least every second year.

Winter Protection—It will be necessary to protect some of the less hardy plants in the border. Not all of them require it, Iris, Phlox, Peonies and Oriental Poppies withstand severe winters without protection. A light covering of straw, stable manure or leaves will protect the less hardy plants, after removing all stems and dead foliage during the last days of November or before severe cold weather sets in, apply this dressing, removing it gradually in the spring as the frost begins to leave the ground.

CAMPANULA GLOMERATA

A campanula that should be in every garden. Grows about 18 inches high. In June and July has large, close heads of deep blue flowers which are strikingly effective. This variety is perennial and does not die out after it has bloomed, instead it increases in size and effectiveness. An Old European favorite.

25c ea.—3 for 65c—$2.00 per doz.

PHLOX SUBULATA Hardy

ATROPURPUREA, Moss Phlox. The flowers of this variety are a deep carmine-red making a most brilliant display. 20c ea.—3 for 50c—$1.75 per doz.

BLUE HILLS, Moss Phlox. This variety forms dense, bushy plants, smothered with blue flowers in April-May. 20c ea.—3 for 50c—$1.75 per doz.

VIVID, Moss Phlox. Bright pink with dark pink eye. One of the choicest of dwarf phlox. 20c ea.—3 for 50c—$1.75 per doz.

NELSONI. Moss Phlox grows low to the ground like all Mountain Phloxes; completely covered with pure white flowers. May-June. 20c ea.—3 for 50c—$1.75 doz.

ROSEA IMPROVED much like the old Mountain Pink, but brighter and larger flowers and blooms some again in the Fall. 20c ea.—3 for 50c—$1.75 doz.

PHLOX OVATA. Bright rosy-red flowers on 12 to 15 in. stems; blooming profusely in May and June; fine for rockery and border. 20c ea.—3 for 50c—$1.75 doz.

PACHYSANDRA

A GREEN RUG FOR THE OUTDOOR LIVING ROOM

EVERGREEN: The plant does not lose its leaves, they retain their color through winter and summer, although the color as stated, will be somewhat lighter in direct sun than in shade.

HEIGHT: Pachysandra will maintain an even height of about six inches or not more than eight inches.

DISEASE FREE: No fungus or other disease affects Pachysandra.

INSECT PROOF: Insects will not attack the plant, nor will any animal eat the root stem or foliage.

SHADE: A distinct characteristic of Pachysandra is the fact that it thrives equally well in dense shade or partial shade, whether from buildings or trees, or in full sun. This unusual characteristic of the plant permits its use in many places.

One year plants $3.00 per 100—$27.50 per 1000.

Three year Plants $7.50 per 100—$60.00 per 1000.

ORIENTALE POPPIES

Giant Hardy Perennial Poppies

Cannot be produced true to color and form from seeds, therefore we have prepared a large list of the largest and best outstanding varieties, after carefully selecting parent plants. Our stock is built up by cuttings, therefore we are able to furnish the varieties listed true to name and sufficient age to bloom the first year they are planted. Orientale poppies should be planted EARLY SPRING. However, the best time to plant is starting July 20th until frost has closed the ground.

The following list will be found to contain the best of the old and the newly tested varieties. Many of these varieties will produce flowers from ten to twelve inches in diameter.

PLANT FOOD

Chrysanthemums and other flowering plants are gross feeders, they all like a well drained, rich soil that has had an application of stable manure. While stable manure is becoming harder to get we have sought other sources of fertility. After trying a number of so-called commercial fertilizers we now use one known as 4-6-6 V. C. formula. We use it freely on any type of plant and find it especially good for feeding chrysanthemums applying it between the rows in dry form weekly until the buds appear. It makes a healthy, green, thriving plant and puts color into the bloom. It is economical and does not burn the plants. We are able to furnish some of this fertilizer from our regular source. 10 lbs. 40c—50 lbs. $1.75—a bag 100 lbs. $3.00 via freight or express collect.

Dependable Flower And Vegetable Seeds

GUARANTEE: All the seeds that we pack are guaranteed to be strictly fresh, of high germination, quality and dependable varieties. Cultural directions will be found on the back of the seed packets. Our guarantee however, does not cover crop failures due to weather, soil or pests.
